"STATE RIGHTS" INVENTION

Predatory Interests Manufactured it for Their Own Profit, Says the Colonel

ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 6.—Chief Forester Graves notified President Taft here, it leaked out, this afternoon, that he would resign unless given a free hand.

ASK SPECIAL CONGRESS ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 6.—The California delegation to the conservation congress has just asked Governor Hay of Washington to call a special conservation congress.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 6.—America today had an opportunity to compare the respective popularity of President Taft and Theodore Roosevelt. The tribute which Theodore Roosevelt received today when he appeared before the National Conservation congress exceeded in several respects the manifestation of interest which was shown to President Taft in the same hall before the same congress, 24 hours previously. The Taft audience did not fill the Auditorium. The Roosevelt audience came in an hour early, filled the building to the number of 12,000 and thousands were turned away at the doors. When Taft entered the hall he was cheered for thirteen seconds. The Roosevelt demonstration lasted over two minutes.

When President Taft in his speech referred to Roosevelt Monday the crowd cheered for forty seconds; when Col. Roosevelt mentioned President Taft today the cheering lasted fourteen seconds.

Takes Militant Stand

Col. Roosevelt took a militant stand on the question of the federal control of water power sites. This was in issue with President Taft, who on Monday refused to say whether or not he believed in federal or state control of power sites. Roosevelt's endorsement of the lakes to the gulf water way scheme was received with wild applause. On the question of draining swamp lands the colonel declared the federal government should control the drainage of interstate lands. For fully a minute the crowd cheered when the colonel attacked state control of forests.

Roosevelt was in fighting mood throughout the speech. He swung his fists and turned to the western governors on the platform, driving home each point with an arm thrust or shaking his head.

Big Stick For Taxway

At the beginning of his talk on the conservation commission Roosevelt swung the big stick at Representative Tawney, of Minnesota, who amended the sundry civil bill to avoid the work of the commission. When Roosevelt declared that he had remained president he would have disregarded the amendment brought the crowd to its feet with a wild yell.

Crowd With Him

Cries of "bust 'em," "hit 'em again," and "go after them, Teddy," greeted his opening of the question of water power sites when he said: "This is not really a question of state or nation. It is really a question of special, predatory interests against the general popular interest. If it were not for those corporate interests the question of state rights would never have been heard of."

The crowd stood up and yelled itself hoarse and it was several minutes before Roosevelt could continue. From that time the crowd interrupted the colonel time and again. He had warmed up to his subject and he carried the crowd with him. Cheer after cheer greeted his demand for federal control.

STALWARTS ADMIT VICTORY FOR 'BOB'

"Can't Beat the Cuss," Say Enemies of Senator; Progressives Expect a Clean Sweep

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 6.—With fair weather overhanging all Wisconsin and the forecast for fair and colder, it is predicted one of the heaviest votes in the history of state primaries will be polled today. The choice of nominees in the various parties for state, county and congressional offices now rests with the voters. The polls opened at 6 o'clock this morning in the city and 9 o'clock in the rural districts and the polls will close at 8 o'clock this evening.

It is expected when the polls close tonight and the results are determined, United States Senator Robert M. La Follette will be renominated over his opponent, Samuel A. Cook, by at least two to one majority. This angle of the contest is generally conceded in all districts from latest reports today.

The fight for the republican nomination for governor has been the center of interest during the entire campaign. The three leading candidates, Senator E. T. Fairchild, of the "stalwarts" former district attorney of Milwaukee county, Francis E. McGovern, the "progressive" candidate, and Captain Wm. Mitchell, Lewis, representing the county option issue, have each been favorites in the popular forecastings. Within the past two days, however, the race is believed to have been narrowed down to Fairchild and McGovern with the latter the favorite. It is said Lewis' standing for the county option issue has limited his field of appeal.

McGovern and Fairchild are in Milwaukee today watching the vote. Lewis left the city last night for his home at Racine and will return tonight.

Interest in Congressional Fights State wide interest is demonstrated in the state congressional fight. In the Fourth and Fifth districts embracing Milwaukee county, the fight has been bitter. Congressman W. J. Carey (progressive) of the Fourth district has met vigorous opposition from State Senator George Page (standpatter). Both men claim victory but Carey is the favorite.

In the Fifth, Congressman W. H. Stafford (standpatter) and Henry F. Coehms (progressive) have fought out their claims for the republican nomination practically along the same lines as two and four years ago. The result will be close and not decided until the last ballot is counted.

In the First, Second, Sixth, Ninth and Tenth districts, contests have been warm and promise interest.

Each Has No Opposition Congressman Esch, in the Seventh district, and Congressman A. W. Kopp, of the third district, have no opposition for renomination.

The re-nomination of Congressman I. L. Lenroot, in the Eleventh district, is generally admitted.

Congressman Davidson, (straddler) in the Eighth district is expected to nose out George E. Beede for the nomination.

The bitterest fight of all has been waged in the Second district where Attorney General Frank L. Gilbert (standpatter) is a candidate for the congressional nomination against Congressman John M. Nelson (progressive). Latest reports from the district indicate the nomination of Nelson. In the first district Wallace Ingalls has made a hard fight for the nomination against Congressman H. A. Cooper, (progressive) but Cooper is conceded the victory.

The fight in the Ninth district against Congressman Kuestermann by A. M. Spencer of Appleton, has been of the strenuous kind, with the result in doubt. The democrats in the Sixth district have been in a hot congressional fight, with M. E. Burke, of Beaver Dam, and E. W. Clark, of Fond du Lac, as the candidates.

For the minor offices on the state ticket below that of governor, it is generally conceded today that Senator Tom Morris will be nominated for lieutenant governor and Herman L. Ekern for insurance commissioner. Levi Bancroft (stalwart) hopes to win the nomination for attorney general as a result of the death of Frank T. Tucker (Progressive).

YEGGS ROB MICHIGAN BANK

RIGA, Mich., Sept. 6.—Yeggs early today blew up the safe in the Farmers' and Merchants' bank here, wrecking the building, and escaping without leaving a clue. Ten thousand dollars known to have been in the safe is missing but owing to the force of the explosion the bank officials think some, possibly all of it is in the debris. The explosion awakened the whole town but the robbers escaped.

ENDS PARIS TO LONDON FLIGHT

American Adventurer Finishes Successfully Great Undertaking Started August 16

LONDON, Sept. 6.—After a half dozen delays, Aviator Moissant, an American, today completed his Paris to London airplane flight landing at Crystal Palace this afternoon after an interrupted flight from Seven Oaks.

Moissant started the trip that ended today on August 16. His daring flights at the outset, in which he flew across the English channel in his Blériot monoplane, and carried a 182 pound mechanic, Albert Fileaux, with him, aroused tremendous interest throughout the whole world. Mechanician Fileaux, who had never been in an aeroplane, until he started the Paris to London trip, with Moissant, made the entire trip.

The itinerary of the great flight is as follows: Left Issy at 5 p. m., Aug. 16; reached Amiens at 7:30 p. m., August 16; left Amiens at 5:10 a. m., Aug. 17; reached Calais, 7:15 a. m., Aug. 17; left Calais, 10:45 a. m., Aug. 17; arrived Tilmanstone 11:21 a. m., Aug. 17; left Tilmanstone 5:05 a. m., Aug. 18; arrived a mile from Sittingbourne, where forced to descend owing to break in machinery; reascended after noon Aug. 18, and flew to Upchurch, 10 miles, beyond Sittingbourne; ascended Upchurch Aug. 20 but forced to descend after traveling a mile owing to motor trouble; reascended near Upchurch 4:29 a. m., Aug. 22; arrived Seven Oaks 5:25 a. m., Aug. 22; ascended Seven Oaks Sept. 6, flew to Oxford, where forced to alight by high wind; reascended this afternoon and completed 25 mile flight to London.

It was five o'clock when Moissant reascended. He had his machine under perfect control and flew in splendid manner over the 25 miles remaining to complete the full trip. Upon reaching Crystal Palace, Moissant circled spectacularly and then made a beautiful descent.

HOW TEDDY FUT OUT "ASSASSIN"

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 6.—A story of how Roosevelt, when president, knocked out a would-be assassin was made public here today, for the first time following a report of the manner in which he had led the men who attacked him at Island Park, N. D.

Roosevelt's fondness for long walks led him to start off at midnight one night. With secret service agent, Craig, who later was killed in a trolley accident at Pittsfield, Mass., Roosevelt walked to the home of Elihu Root, then secretary of state, who joined him. They were walking down Connecticut Avenue with Craig about fifteen feet behind. Craig was startled to see a big man spring from behind a tree toward the president. The secret agent drew his revolver, but before he took a step there was a thud. The president was rubbing his right fist which the assailant had bruised against the assailant's jaw. For fifteen minutes Craig worked with the supposed robber before he was fully conscious. He was unarmed and asserted he had intended to ask for money, not knowing the identity of his prospective victim.

ONE KILLED AND 3 HURT IN WRECK

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 6.—One man was killed and three others were seriously injured early today in a rear end collision between a Rock Island freight and a Union Pacific stock train in the outskirts of Kansas City. The dead man is Patrick Brown of Galena, Kan.

The wreck occurred on a sharp curve and it is believed the engineer of the Rock Island train failed to see the train ahead in time to prevent the collision.

THREE HURT IN DUBUQUE RUNAWAY

DUBUQUE, Iowa, Sept. 6.—(Special.)—Three Dubuquers were badly hurt in a sensational runaway on the high bridge Monday. Mrs. H. E. Williams had an arm broken and had cuts about the body. Her daughter, Mrs. J. Ford, suffered a wrenched hip and serious internal injuries. The latter's husband, J. W. Ford, has both ankles sprained and was otherwise badly bruised. The vehicle was totally demolished.

CRIPPEN HEARING ADJOURNED TODAY

Alleged Wife Murderer and His Typist Are in Court for Trial for Murder

LONDON, Sept. 6.—After a rehearing of much of the evidence produced at the first appearance on August 29 of Dr. H. H. Crippen and Miss Ethel Claire Leneve, their hearing was today adjourned until Thursday. Today's proceedings were largely a rehearsing of the earlier hearing, due to the fact that Sir Albert de Rutzen, the presiding judge, was hearing the case for the first time.

An appeal for bail for Miss Leneve was denied by the court. Attorneys representing the crown opened the case against Crippen and the girl. It was said that the examination of remnants of the body found in Dr. Crippen's residence, showing plainly the marks of a recent operation and the presence of yescin poison. It is these remains that the prosecution must prove to have been the body of Belle Elmore. Solicitors Arthur Newton and J. H. Welfare appeared for Crippen and Miss Leneve respectively. Although there is a charge of murder against the girl the prosecution has indicated that it will try her only on the charge of being an accessory after the commission of the alleged crime.

Minor Charge Against Girl

Crippen was brought to the court from Brixton jail in the hospital ward of which he was confined for several days last week. Miss Leneve came from Holloway jail.

Early in Humphrey's presentation of the case he announced that the

THIS MILLIONAIRE DON'T LIKE TEDDY

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—"Business conditions would be all right in this country if persons who didn't know anything about business would stop going around and talking about it," said Elbridge T. Gerry, the New York millionaire, as he sailed for Europe today.

Asked whether he meant Col. Roosevelt, the former commander of the New York Yacht club said that his statement "spoke for itself."

HEIRESS BEAT UP TRUST CO. HEADS

Asks $25,000 Accumulation and when it Is Refused She Lands on the Officials

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—Because Calvert Brewer, first vice president, and Carl G. Rasmus, second vice president of the U. S. Mortgage and Trust company, today refused to give Mrs. Ida Von Claussion $25,000, she floored both of them with well directed blows. Employees of the trust company then hustled Mrs. Von Claussion out and she disappeared before the police appeared.

Mrs. Von Claussion is the granddaughter of Michael Byrne, who left an estate of $11,000,000. The trust company is trustee for the estate and Mrs. Von Claussion claims that $25,000 has accumulated which the officials refuse to give her. This the company denies, saying she has had all the money that was coming to her.

Before starting, Mrs. Von Claussion telephoned the newspapers that there would be "something doing," so she had a good audience when she appeared. She wore a stunning purple dress, a black picture hat and all of her famous jewelry.

Mrs. Nellie Van Slingerland, who accompanied her, addressing Brewer who accented the couple, and demanded that he pay the $15,000.

"I am very sorry," said Brewer courteously, "but we are unable to do as you desire."

Mrs. Von Claussion immediately rushed across the room and as Brewer arose from his chair, she landed a right jab on his jaw that grazed a piece of skin off his chin. A second blow was wasted off but her diamond ring cut a gash in his wrist. She then swung a right to the side of Brewer's head and he fell over his chair. Rasmus came to his chief's assistance but Mrs. Von Claussion grabbed him by his coat lapels, shook him like a cat shaking a mouse, and hurled him backwards sprawling to the floor.

Mrs. Von Claussion achieved international notoriety about three years ago by threatening to sue the then President Roosevelt because the United States minister at Christiania refused to introduce her to the king of Norway.

COMMITTEE EXPECTED TO GIVE BALLINGER TARCOAT

"OLD GUARD" IS ON TRIAL TODAY

Insurgents Hope to Win in Wisconsin, Michigan and in Green Mountain State

BURROWS IS IN JEOPARDY

Faithful Aldrichite of Michigan May Go to Defeat in Primary Election Today

Ingredients in today's political mixup: Wisconsin—Hot contest for and against indorsement of La Follette for senatorship to be decided in today's primaries. Five republican candidates for gubernatorial nomination. A fight of the "Few against the Many." Vermont—First state election of the year. Democrats predict they will cut average republican majority of 20,000. New Hampshire—First state wide primaries held in the east. Principal feature, fight between republican progressives and regulars for gubernatorial and congressional nominations. Michigan—Effort to displace Burrows as senator on account of alleged close affiliation with Aldrich to be decided in primaries. Three republican candidates for gubernatorial nomination.

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 6.—Michigan republicans today are watching the political fate of Senator Burrows, who throughout the campaign just ended had to defend his course of allegiance to Aldrich, against the claims of Congressman Charles E. Townsend of Jackson for the senator's seat on a platform of conservative insurgency.

The state's first general primary election is on and interest centers in the senatorial race and the three cornered fight for the republican nomination for governor.

Insurgency in Vermont

MONTEPELIER, Vt., Sept. 6.—The extent to which republican insurgency exists in the Green Mountain state, is expected to be recorded in the gubernatorial election today in which the candidates are Dr. John Mead, of Rutland, republican, and Charles D. Watson, of St. Albans, democrat. Little doubt is expressed that Mead will win, but his plurality, if below the normal, will be claimed by the republican insurgents, as an indication that the policies of the "new nationalism" and of opposition to the old regime in that party have gained such a foothold as to make them factors in the general congressional elections.

The average republican majority in Vermont on off years since 1870 is 19,200 while the average republican plurality is 20,660.

Tangle in Louisiana

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 6.—Experts on senatorial affairs are intensely interested today in the rare political tangle in Louisiana which will tax the wisest heads.

Are the laws passed by the legislature and signed by Gov. Sanders after his senatorial election constitutional?

Was the appointment of Thornton Sanders to be United States senator legal?

The trouble arose over a vacancy in the state's representation in the United States senate.

The legislature elected Sanders to fill the vacancy. Sanders accepted and though he had not qualified the senate officials in accordance with custom placed his name on the payroll.

Sanders later decided that he did not care to go to the senate at this time. It appeared that if he left the state his organization might suffer and his political power be placed in jeopardy.

Having decided to retain his job as governor, Sanders appointed J. R. Thornton United States senator. Sanders' enemies pointed out that under the constitution of Louisiana no man could hold two offices at the same time. They asserted that Sanders became senator the moment he accepted election by the legislature and that at the same time he ceased to be governor of the state. Sanders signed several bills passed by the legislature and these are to be attacked in the state courts on the ground that Sanders had no authority to sign them. It is reported that a contest will be made of the Thornton appointment, the claim being made that the governor had no right to make such.

WHITEWASH LIKELY WON'T BE APPLIED

Though No Vote Has Been Taken, Indications Are Secretary will Get the "Black Ball"

A RECENT CHANGE OF HEART

Chief Adherents of Secretary Are Not Even Present at the Sessions Today

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Sept. 6.—It appears to be all over but the actual casting of the black balls in the Ballinger case. The final report is yet to be formulated or at least signed but the final conclusion has already been reached unless apparently unmistakable indications are entirely misleading.

It is most significant that the principal absentees from the meeting of the congressional investigating committee in the West Hotel, Minneapolis, are the very members of the Ballinger committee who have been known as most sympathetic with Ballinger's side of the case. Flint of California, Senators Elihu Root of New York, usually numbered with the regular republican majority of seven counted on to apply the whitewash, are not here and are not expected to be here.

Flint is Slated

Flint is in Europe. He is said to be slated for the secretaryship as soon as Ballinger can be pried loose from the portfolio. In the assumption that this report is true, natural delicacy would forbid that Flint be active in Ballinger's exclusion from Taft's official family. These leaves the supposedly pro-Ballinger division of the committee reduced to five, of whom two are still absent from Minneapolis. These missing members are Representatives M. E. Olmstead, Pennsylvania, and Edwin Denby of Michigan. Neither was registered at the West Hotel, the committee headquarters today.

Even should the two representatives come to Minneapolis to join the three pro-Ballinger members, one of whom is supposed to be seeing a new light, the case of the secretary of the interior would still be at a perilous point.

Scorching Minority Report

Representative Ollie James of Kentucky, is here. He is credited with having ready a minority report, which is mighty bad medicine for both Ballinger and the republican party. Three other democrats are on the field to back this report. They are Senators Fletcher, Florida, and Purcell, of North Dakota, and Representative Graham of Illinois.

Thus, conceding the Ballinger faction its maximum strength, the committee stands five to four for him, with Representative Madison, Kansas insurgent, yet to be heard from. And Mr. Madison will be heard. There is no doubt about it. He is believed to have a report of

ATTEMPT TO STOP ANDERSON SPEECH

Tawney Followers at Harmony Take Use of Band Stand from Progressive Candidate

HARMONY, Minn., Sept. 6.—Last night Sydney Anderson, the progressive republican candidate for congress, was billed to speak in Harmony. Arrangements had been made to have him deliver his speech from the band stand, the same as Mr. Tawney did at his last public appearance in Harmony. On arrival in Harmony Mr. Anderson was told that he could not be permitted the use of the band stand. Some of the Tawney men in town had notified the band committee that if Mr. Anderson was permitted the use of the band stand, they would withdraw their subscriptions to the band. Nothing daunted Mr. Anderson delivered the speech from the automobile in which he had arrived, and he certainly did not lack for an audience in spite of the action of the rabid Tawney supporters. It was a regular band concert night, but the boys stopped playing while Anderson was talking and surrounded his automobile. Mr. Anderson was at his very best, and he was liberally applauded. The intolerant action of the Tawney supporters and their effort to stop free speech certainly reacted to Mr. Anderson's benefit, and the prediction is freely made that on account of it he will carry the town with a big majority on September 20th.

PREDICTS VICTORY IN BADGER STATE

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Sept. 6.—"Senator La Follette and Representatives Lenroot, Cooper, Nelson and Morse of Wisconsin will all win this year," said Congressman W. Norris of Nebraska at the West hotel last night. "I have spoken in all their districts, with the exception of Mr. Lenroot's, and I have found that everywhere it is all right with them."

Congressman Norris is confident that the progressives will be triumphant throughout the northwest in the general election this year. He is in Minneapolis to give an address in the cause of Albert H. Hall, who is the progressive candidate for congress against Representative F. M. Nye.

Judge Norris said that Cannon is doomed, that his defeat is absolutely certain. He spoke of the recent trip of Cannon to Kansas and said that all of the men but one for whom the speaker spoke were defeated, and the one elected had a majority of only 104 votes.

TAWNEY SAID TO BE ROOSEVELT FOE

Hamilton Fish in Letter Tells why Congressman Should Be Defeated

ROCHESTER, Minn., Sept. 6.—"There is no man in the country, with the possible exception of one, whom Theodore Roosevelt is so anxious to see defeated at the primaries as James A. Tawney." This is what Hamilton Fish writes from Washington to a first district republican here.

Mr. Fish is anxious to do all he can to aid Sidney Anderson, the young Lanesboro lawyer, who is trying to drag the congressional nomination away from Mr. Tawney. In this connection he suggests that Mr. Anderson go after Mr. Tawney's record, particularly during the last days of the last congress, when Mr. Roosevelt's term of office was drawing to a close.

He also suggests that a number of the big progressives and firm friends of Mr. Roosevelt be invited to come to Minnesota and work for Anderson. It is possible that an effort will be made to take advantage of this last suggestion.

At The Theater

Although the late Clyde Fitch wrote over fifty plays none of them measured up from a comedy standpoint to "The Blue Mouse," which he adapted from a German source. The piece was produced at the Lyric theater, New York, when it ran for one year. It is this production that comes to the La Crosse theater tonight with a cast including Miss Merritt as "The Blue Mouse" and Wilton Taylor, Indiana Palmer, Guy D'Ennery, Margaret Siegel, John E. Hynes, Gordon Mendelssohn, W. G. Reynier, Earle Wright, John Dunne, Wm. H. Burke, Mary MacGregor, Doris Kraker, Manuel Alexander, George Rogers, Louis F. Jones, Oscar Lewis, Sophia Tucker and Moe Dougherty.

"The Blue Mouse" is the nickname of a Salome dancer, Paulette Divine, who at the beginning of the story is a headliner at the most prominent variety theater on Broadway. Every one is discussing her. It seems quite natural, therefore, that Augustus Rollette, the poorly paid railroad secretary, should conceive the idea of employing Miss Divine to pose as his own dear wife to flirt with his superior, President Lewellyn for the purpose of wheeling for Rollette's promotion to the post of division superintendent. Miss Divine is eager for the experience, intending of course, to carry on an innocent flirtation with the middle aged president and Lewellyn, although married, has no conception in "taking on" the charming little actress (whom he believes to be Mrs. Rollette) and in order that he may accompany her to dinner, he sends Rollette to Rochester. In some manner Rollette never goes and the three (Lewellyn, his secretary and "The Mouse") meet in the apartment of Miss Divine. On this particular night the footlight favorite has advertised an auction sale of her personal effects. The mere fact that the famous "Blue Mouse" is to sell her personal belongings attracts people of all classes, including, of course, the real Mrs. Rollette and the real Mrs. Lewellyn. How all these people are drawn to this center of commotion and how they make their escape is one of the cleverest things that Mr. Fitch ever did.

The author staged "The Blue Mouse," selected the scenic models and supervised every detail of the production.

GORE IS FOR BOB SENDS A MESSAGE

Oklahoma Senator Declares His Defeat would Turn Back the Dials of Progress

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 6.—United States Senator La Follette, republican, has received from United States Senator Gore, democrat, a telegraphic message in which the Oklahoma statesman expresses the strongest kind of hope that Wisconsin will renominate La Follette in the primary election today.

Senator Gore's telegram reads as follows:

Madison, Wis.: "Senator Robert M. La Follette, 'Hope Wisconsin will do you the justice and the country the service of renominating you. Your defeat for the renomination would be less an individual disappointment than a national disaster. It would discourage every youth who has his face turned toward the future. It would turn the hands back on the dial of progress more than a decade. Would it not confirm the 'golden rule' of infamy, 'corruption and content?'"

COL. WOODNORTH IS LAID TO REST

WAUPACA, Wis., Sept. 6.—The funeral of the late Col. J. H. Woodnorth was held Sunday afternoon.

It was the most largely attended of any ever held in Waupaca county. The services were under the auspices of the Grand Army of the Republic and were performed jointly by the home post and E. B. Wolcott post, of which Col. Woodnorth was a member. Commander Kendall was in charge. An appropriate address was made by the Rev. R. B. Brown, for many years chaplain of the home. He paid his late commander a touchingly beautiful tribute.

TUCKER FUNERAL LARGELY ATTENDED

NEILLSVILLE, Wis., Sept. 6.—The funeral of Frank T. Tucker was held Saturday afternoon from the Presbyterian church. Among those who attended from Madison were Attorney General Gilbert, State Treasurer Dahl, Deputy Insurance Commissioner Ekern and Assistant Attorney General Messersmidt. Well known men from all parts of the state were also there.

NO SUCCESSOR TO VINJE YET NAMED

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 6.—Governor Davidson, before leaving for Soldiers' Grove to vote, said he would not appoint a successor to Judge Vinje, who is to go to the supreme court, until he returns, leaving the impression that he would make the appointment soon. He is not expected home before the end of the week. Vinje will enter upon the supreme court duties on September 12.

YOUR SUMMER OUTING

If you are fond of fishing, canoeing, camping or the study of wild animals, look up the Algonquin National Park of Ontario for your summer outing. A fish and game preserve of 2,000,000 acres interspersed with 1,200 lakes and rivers is awaiting you, offering all the attractions that Nature can bestow. Magnificent canoe trips. Altitude 2,000 feet above sea level. Pure and exhilarating atmosphere. Just the place to put in your summer holidays. Good hotel accommodation. An interesting and profusely illustrated descriptive publication telling you all about it sent free on application to H. G. Elliott, 917 Merchants Loan & Trust Building, Chicago.

ST. LOUIS FLIGHTS ARE CANCELLED

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Sept. 6.—Following the receipt of a telegram from Clifford B. Harmon, canceling his engagement to fly along the river front in St. Louis today, owing to the wrecking of his plane Saturday, the St. Louis Aero club withdrew its invitation to Captain Thomas S. Baldwin. Unless other dates are arranged neither Baldwin nor Harmon will perform in St. Louis.

THE BEST S. S. S. SPRING TONIC

Most persons, even those who are ordinarily strong and healthy, need a tonic and blood purifier in the Spring. Some have no particular ailment, but are weak, debilitated and run-down. Winter life with its decreased amount of outdoor exercise, and the fact that cold weather has kept the pores of the skin closed, prevented the proper amount of waste and refuse matter from being expelled from the system. These impurities entering the circulation have thinned and weakened the blood, and the body therefore does not receive a sufficient amount of blood nourishment. The general bodily weakness, tired feeling, fickle appetite, poor digestion, etc., show how anaemic the blood has become. Frequently skin diseases, pimples, eruptions, etc., break out and this is evidence of the impurity of the circulation. S. S. S. is the best Spring tonic, because it is the greatest of all blood purifiers. It is the only medicine on which you can rely to supply the system with the needed tonic effects and at the same time purify and enrich your blood. The use of S. S. S. at this time may save you from a long spell of sickness, and it will certainly prepare you for the strain of the long, hot Summer. S. S. S. is made entirely from roots, herbs and barks; it is Nature's tonic, pure and healthful. It regulates digestion, tones up the stomach, improves the appetite and promotes strong, vigorous health. This will be your best Spring season if you use S. S. S. for your tonic.

ELEMENTS OF THE CAMPAIGN
"More direct action by the people in their own affairs under proper safeguards is vitally necessary. The direct primary is a step in this direction if it is associated with a corrupt practices act effective to prevent the advantage of the man willing to spend money over his more honest competitor."

That is what Col. Theodore Roosevelt said in his speech at Osawatomie Wednesday.

Mr. Fairchild, of Milwaukee, is the gubernatorial candidate who heads the ticket for which W. D.

Connor is sponsor. He is the candidate of a political machine the confessed purpose of which is to defeat the purposes of an overwhelming majority of Wisconsin people by repudiating the result of the senatorial primary and defeating Senator La Follette through the medium of a bought and delivered legislature.

Strung across the street at the corner of Fourth and Main streets
in this city is a great banner bearing a picture of Mr. Fairchild and this inscription:

"Stands For Taft and Roosevelt."
This is deception. Mr. Fairchild
DOES NOT "stand for Roosevelt."

The stalwart straddle is usually sufficiently colossal to accomplish duplicity as to political intent, but the versatile agents of the special interests are not equal to this acrobatic stunt. Col. Roosevelt is coming in to Wisconsin to endorse Senator La Follette. He has already sent Garfield and Pinchot into the state to work for the re-election of Senator
La Follette. Does Mr. Fairchild stand for that?

In the vigorous language quoted
at the beginning of this discussion,
Col. Roosevelt delivers a powerful thrust at men who employ money
to subvert a primary election, and declares there should be laws making such conduct criminal. Can anyone doubt that this was meant
as a direct thrust at the Connor-Fairchild-Eleventh story program in Wisconsin?

Mr. Fairchild's banner declares that he "stands for Roosevelt," but the local organ of his faction that a few days ago was lauding the ex-
president, is filled with bitter abuse
of him, now that he has come out in full support of the insurgent movement.

Col. Roosevelt is an insurgent.
He is for La Follette. He has joined hands with Cummins, Dolliver, Beveridge, Bristow, Borah, Murdock,
Norris, Clapp, Pinchot, Garfield,
Heney, and all the other patriots and statesmen who are fighting for truly representative government.

WHAT ARE THEY FIGHTING? Is
it the republican party? No, for
THEY ARE THE REPUBLICAN PARTY. They are fighting the corporate interests which, through President Taft, Aldrich, Cannon and Dalzell are making the republican party
an instrument for Big Business.
Roosevelt is squarely opposed to Taft. This is not personal. Roosevelt is for government by and for the masses; Taft is for government for and by a class. In that sense,
ROOSEVELT IS FIGHTING TAFT.

Mr. Fairchild says he is for Roosevelt. Within the week Mr.
Roosevelt has declared that he favors driving the special interests out of politics, no corporate funds for political uses, downward revision of the tariff, government regulation of wages for the protection of working men, primary elections and a corrupt practices act for their enforcement, physical valuation of railroad property as a means of more complete control of railroads. These things are links in a chain of good government which Col. Roosevelt believes should be forged. Perhaps his meaning is best summed up in these words from his Osawatomie
speech:

"I am far from underestimating
the importance of dividends, but I rank them below human character.
I know well that the reformers
must not bring upon the people
economic ruin, or the reforms themselves will go down in ruin. But we must be ready to face temporary disaster, whether or not brought upon us by those who will war against us to the knife. Ruin in its worst form is inevitable if our national life brings us nothing better than swollen fortunes for the few."

"I stand for the square deal.
But when I say I am for the square deal I mean not merely that I stand for fair play under the present rules of the game, but that I stand for having those rules changed so as to work for a more substantial equality of opportunity, and of reward for equally good service."

The stalwart campaign in this state has met a series of disappointments. It was based upon the theory that a pretense of defending President Taft against Senator La Follette would turn against the latter a large vote cast by republicans
having a superstitious regard for party and classing President Taft as the head of the party. In furtherance of this plan the early speeches
and literature of the Wisconsin stalwarts defended the Aldrich-Payne tariff bill and the administration of that old friendship between President Taft and Col. Roosevelt would bring from Col. Roosevelt an endorsement of the president the stalwarts coupled the names of the two as their particular champions, believing the popularity of Col. Roosevelt would offset the unpopularity of President Taft.

One by one their plans failed.
Compelled by a public sentiment
the strength of which he feared,
President Taft in an open letter admitted the deficiencies of the Aldrich tariff law, and declared for a further revision. This destroyed one limb of the three legged support upon which the stalwart program was based.

Facing disaster in the coming congressional election, President Taft caused to be published a statement that Aldrich and Cannon must go, and that Ballinger would resign. Upon the assertion of Mr.
Ballinger that he would not resign,
it was announced from Washington that the whitewash which had been prepared for him by the investigating committee would not be forthcoming, but that the report of the committee would censure him, thus forcing him out of public life. This removed another leg of the stalwarts' support.

And now Col. Roosevelt comes out vigorously and shows himself to be in full sympathy with the insurgent movement, a leader of insurgents,
and the most powerful factor in the present fight against the Taft administration. That removed the last leg of the stalwarts' support in Wisconsin.

What has the anti-La Follette machine in Wisconsin left upon which to depend in this fight? MONEY! A million dollars! It is being poured into every election precinct. Its expenditure has been traced in La Crosse county and is being traced
daily. There is no secret about it. Men freely admit that they are being paid
so much a day for working for the anti-La Follette candidates. Expensive headquarters are being maintained. Great sums are being spent for advertising and literature. Every advantage that dollars will buy
is being bid for in the open market.
It is the fight of money against men,
subterfuge against principle.

In La Crosse county men and principle will win by an overwhelming majority.

A SHOE THAT FITS WISCONSIN

"More direct action by the people in their own affairs under proper safeguards is vitally necessary.
The direct primary is a step in this direction if it is associated with a corrupt practices act effective to prevent the advantage of the man
willing recklessly and unscrupulously to spend money over his more honest competitor."

COL. THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

In speech at Osawatomie, Kan.,
Wednesday, Aug. 31, 1910.
We commend the above to the attention of the gentlemen who are spending a million dollars in Wisconsin to nullify the primary and defeat Senator La Follette.

The importance of today's primary is such that no citizen should fail to vote. The issue is of concern to every voter, and the state needs the voice of all its people in deciding what the character of government shall be.
The Tribune urges any readers who have not already done so to go to the polls and vote.

There was the irony of "harmony"
in one of the selections played by the band at the Bancroft stalwart meeting. It was:

"Cheer! Cheer! The gang's all here!"

"Bob" Cowie is one stalwart who appreciates a "notice" in The Tribune. "Bob's" politics has never been equal to the task of strangling his good humor.

One doubts that there will be enough "consolation prizes" to go round.

The Progressive Ticket to the Standpatters Ticket: "There ain't agin' t' be no core!"

The political undertaker will be busy tomorrow.

What a get-rich-quick graft it would be if a man could buy himself
for what he is worth and sell himself at his own valuation!

Woman's Way

With just the plain form unadorned
To her in Eden given
Through all the days of every year
Since then fair Eve has striven.
She's made her arms symmetrical
Look like two legs of mutton.
First right side up then down side
up—

She never cared a button
How difficult it was, so long
As fashion had decreed it.
She'd shape them to fit that decree.
She'd massage each and knead it.

Her waist she's also moved about;
From arm-pits up above it
Has slipped so low one sometimes fears

She soon will step out of it;
She doffs her hips and dons her hips.
Her bust is promptly shunted
At fashion's slightest nod, and she Meets all the world straight-fronted

When fashion says the word; she's plump
One season as a partridge,
Next time we see her she's as slim
As any rifle cartridge.

She plumps her cheeks and fluffs
her hair,
Wears high heels on each slipper,
And goes abroad in hobble skirts.

And, with it all, she's chipper
As any woodland songster is.
When fortune smiles she bubbles;
When trouble comes she snuggles up
And laughs away our troubles.
When the cook leaves, she gayly brings

Our maternal hash on—
She clings to us in joy and woe,
For that is woman's fashion!

A Piece of Imudence

Mme. Poincaré, the French actress, laughed at a supper party at Sherry's, in New York, over the story that she was the ugliest woman in the world.

"The press agents," she said,
"may have benefited me by circulating that story, but I think that they were very impudent, all the same."

"They were as impudent as a Pullman porter I heard about yesterday. This porter was dissatisfied with the tip that an actor and his wife gave him. The actor said to the porter, when he got off the train at New York:

"Have you seen my baggage?"
"Yes," the porter answered,
"jerk your thumb over his shoulder. 'She's back there in the wash
room makin' up her face.'"

Ignorance Reproved

A newly made magistrate was gravely absorbed in a formidable document. Raising his keen eyes,
he said to the man who stood patiently awaiting the award of justice:

"Officer, what is this man charged with?"

"Bigotry, your worship. He's got three wives."

The new J. P. rested his elbows
on the desk and placed his fingertips together. "Officer," he said,
somewhat sternly, "what is the use
of all this education, all these evening schools, all the technical classes, and what not? Please remember,
in any future like case, that a man who has married three wives has not committed bigotry, but triglo-metry. Proceed."

Her Pride Was Hurt

There is a little east end girl, still under 6, who reaches the limit in the matter of sensitiveness, says the Cincinnati Post. Likewise, she has her points in respect to dead gameness. She was taken out to Lakewood about a week ago to spend a few days with her aunt. The little miss played around in front of her aunt's place for a while. Then her aunt her a playful young terrier into the yard,
saying to the child:

"This is your little four footed cousin."

Five minutes later the aunt returned to the front yard to call the kid into the house, but she wasn't anywhere to be seen. The fox terrier was playing alone. There was a scrambling hunt for the child and all kinds of alarm, but the little girl didn't turn up. The aunt hustled into her mother.

She had walked right to the car
for town as soon as the fox terrier
pup was presented to her.

"Why didn't you stay at aunt's?"
her mother asked her in surprise.

"She introduced me to a dog!" replied the haughty young person.

A Serious Matter

"I suppose we will soon be hearing
the joke about the big fish that got away."

"My friend," replied the fisherman, "with food at present prices,
the fish that gets away is not a joke.
It is a calamity."—Washington Star.

He Strayed from Camp

His name was Jimmy Strunk and one of those who took a fancy to the old man was Dennis Ryan, a policeman. It was a regular habit of Jimmy to join the Salvation army, but he never stayed. He was fervently religious, but his religion was not enduring enough to keep him sober.

One night, when he was having a fall from grace he ran across his friend Ryan.

"Hello, comrade," called Dennis,
as soon as he grasped the man's condition, "what army do you belong
to?"

"I belong," replied Jimmy, who had just become converted for the twentieth time, "to the army of the Lord."

Ryan looked at him a moment, uncertain just what to do with him.
Then, as he grasped his arm and walked toward the patrol box.

"Well," he said, "you're a long ways from camp."—Philadelphia Times.

HIS TOWN

MARIE VAN VORST

"Now," he said, "I am going to trust you with something, and I know you will keep my secret for me. This shows you a little bit of what I think about you. Dan Blair hasn't got a red cent. He has nothing but what I give him. There's a false title to all that land on the Bentley claim. The whole thing came up when I was home and the original company, of which I own
three-quarters of the stock, holds the clear title to the Blairtown mines. It all belongs now to me, if I choose to present my documents.
Dan knows nothing about this—not a word."

The actress had never come up to such a dramatic point in any of her plays. With her hands folded in her lap she looked at him steadily,
and he could not understand the expression that crossed her face. He heard her exclamation: "Oh, gracious!"

"I've brought the papers back with me," said the Westerner, "and it is between you and me now we act. If Dan marries you I will be bound to do what old Blair would have done—cut him off—let him feel his feet on the ground, and the result of his own folly."

He had taken his glasses off while he made this assertion. Now he put them on again.

"If you give him up I'll divide
with the boy and be rich enough
still to hand over to my wife all she wants to spend."

She turned her face away from him and leaned her head once more upon her hands. He heard her softly murmuring under her breath,
with an absent look on her face, accompanied by a still more incomprehensible smile.

"That's how it stands," he concluded.

She seemed to have forgotten him
entirely, and he caught his breath
when she turned about abruptly
and said:

"My goodness, how Dan will hate being poor! He will have to sell all his stickpins and his motor cars and all the things he has given me. It will be quite a little to start on, but he will hate it, he is so very smart."

"Why, you don't mean to say—"
Ruggles gasped.

And with a charming smile as she rose to put her conversation at an end, she said:

"Why, you don't mean to say
that you thought I wouldn't stand by him?" She seemed, as she put her hands upon her hips with something of a defiant look at the older man, as though she just then stood
by her pauperized lover.

"I thought you cared some for the boy," Ruggles said.

"Well, I am showing it."

"You want to ruin him to show it,
do you?"

As though he thought the subject
dismissed he walked heavily toward the door.

"You know how it stands. I have nothing more to say. He knew that he had signally failed, and as a sudden resentment rose in him he exclaimed, almost brutally:

"I am darned glad the old man is dead; I am glad his mother's dead,
and I am glad I have got no son."

The next moment she was at his side, and he felt that she clung to his arm. Her sensitive, beautiful face, all drawn with emotion, was raised to his.

"Oh, you'll kill me—you'll kill me! Just look how very ill I am;
you are making me crazy. I just worship him."

"Give him up, then," said Ruggles steadily.

She faltered: "I can't—I can't—
it won't be for long—with a terrible pathos in her voice. "You don't know how different I can be;
you don't know what a new life we were going to lead."

Stammering, and with intense meaning, Ruggles, looking down at her, said: "My dear child—my dear child!"

In his few words something perhaps made her see in a flash her past and what the question really
was. She dropped Ruggles' arm.

She stood for a moment with her arms folded across her breast, her head bent down, and the man at the door waited, feeling that Dan's whole life was in the balance of the moment. When she spoke again her voice was hard and entirely devoid of the lovely appealing quality
which brought her so much admiration from the public.

"If I give him up," she said
slowly, "what will you do?"

"Why," he answered, "I'll divide with Dan and let things stand just as they are."

She thought again a moment and then as if she did not want him to witness—to detect the struggle she was going through, she turned away
and walked over toward the window
and dismissed him from there.

"Please go, will you? I want very much to be alone and to think."

CHAPTER XXV.

Letty Lane Runs Away.

He had not got up-stairs to his rooms at the Carlton before a note
was handed him from the actress, bidding him to return at once to the Savoy, and Ruggles, his heart
hammering like a trip-hammer, rushed up to his rooms, made an evening toilet, for it was then half-past seven, threw his cravats and collars around the place, cursed like
a miner as he got into his clothes,
and red almost to apoplexy, nervous
and full of emotion, he returned to the rooms he had left not three hours before.

The three hours had been busy ones at the actress' apartment. Letty Lane's sitting-room was full of trunks, dressing-bags and traveling paraphernalia. She came forward

out of what seemed a world of confusion, dressed as though for a journey, even her veil and her gloves denoting her departure. She spoke hurriedly and almost without politeness.

"I have sent for you to come and see me here. Not a soul in London knows I am going away. There will be a dreadful row at the theater, but that's none of your affairs. Now, I want you to tell me before I go just what you are going to do for Dan."

COMPLETE NEWS OF THE NORTH SIDE

RAIN HELPS BOB COWIE'S CROWD

Talks to Fair Sized Audience and Lauds the President and Stalwarts

It was a mighty lucky thing for Robert S. Cowie and the Stalwarts that a downpour of rain came promptly at 8 o'clock last evening while the band was playing in front of Wannebo hall on the north side, because many who stood outside entered the hall to keep from getting wet.

The meeting was presided over by Dr. F. C. Suiter, who in a few brief remarks introduced Judge Cowie, the speaker of the evening. Judge Cowie devoted a large portion of his time explaining how President Taft was forced to sign the tariff bill and how it was the best thing that could be done at that time. He said no man has a right to call himself a republican without first giving his endorsement to the president and the governor of Wisconsin. The speaker criticized the progressives for the attacks made upon the administration and denounced them as fit subjects for an anarchistic school.

The speaker pleaded for the support of the stalwart candidates in the state and for the legislature, claiming that they were the only true republicans running for office. He admitted that he received $150 for "services" rendered during the Stephenson senatorial campaign, but said that the other Bob, referring to the senator, received $250,000 in freight before he got to the United States senate. He said one Bob is an outlaw for receiving $150, while the other Bob was a king of kings.

They Applaud La Follette

Although the rain caused many to enter the hall for shelter there were less than a hundred present to listen to the stalwart speaker's oratorical efforts. The applause was meager and was confined to the stalwart enthusiasts in one corner, excepting when Cowie mentioned the name of La Follette. Then there was a general outburst of applause despite the fact the speaker was trying his best to "knock" La Follette. The sentiment of the meeting clearly indicated that these north siders will stand in the progressive column when the votes are counted tonight, and that the "money campaign" of those trying to defeat good government will fail, at least so far as their votes are concerned.

ELECTION RETURNS AT THE MAJESTIC

Will Be Announced at Both Shows Tonight; La Crosse People Seen in Motion Pictures

Manager Koppelberger of the Majestic is offering another good show to his patrons this week, one that is of special interest to La Crosse people in the fact that it shows the great and gorgeous Knights Templar parade in Chicago a few weeks ago. The parade clearly shows the La Crosse commandery and faces of local men can easily be distinguished in the procession.

The feature act of the week is Hickey's comedy circus of two small performing ponies and the great fun making mule Obey which creates an unusual amount of laughter when two young men attempt to ride the animal. It is an excellent act, in fact one of the best that has ever been offered to a La Crosse public. It comes direct from the Orpheum circuit.

Kelley and Catlin, colored gentleman and Chinaman respectively, are good, and have an act that is unique and entertaining with a spicy bit of oriental opera. Both are good singers and the "Chink" has a great impersonation of the true life type.

Clara Thropp's review of stage hits of today is splendid. She is assisted in her work by four dancing graces which add much to the attractiveness of the dancing numbers. Miss Thropp gives excellent imitations of Eddie Foy, Ethel Barrymore, George Cohan, Eva Tanguay, Ruth St. Dennis, Harry Lauder and Isadora Duncan. The act has much special scenery and effective costuming.

Harry and Kitty Sutton have a classy comedy knockout contortionist act, taking place on a farm. Miss Sutton is a clever contortionist and features the "Pumpkin Girl." A large pumpkin is rolled on the stage and when opened Miss Sutton, in a nifty costume, comes out giving the audience a delightful surprise.

W. L. Werden and Marie Gearin are as much of a hit as ever. Three new songs with excellent pictures are featured this week.

The election returns will be announced at both shows this evening.

It takes a woman to fuss with a railroad agent because she purchases a ticket to the yong town.

FAMOUS AUTHOR ON SPOOK-HUNT

Mary Roberts Rinehart Goes to Lilydale and Hob-Nobs With Mediums

EXCITING RIDE HOME

Dr. Stanley M. Rinehart, of Allegheny, and his wife, Mary Roberts Rinehart, the well-known novelist, are spending the summer at Bemus Point, Lake Chautauqua, New York. Last week they put in a day at Lilydale, the Spiritualistic camp-meeting, where all sorts of mediums, slate-writers, clairvoyants, etc., do congregate, and where the air is said to buzz with the whizzing of spooks. Dr. Rinehart is interested in the medical standpoint in all forms of neurasthenia. Mrs. Rinehart is interested in any novel phase of life that will furnish "copy." She says that day in Lilydale gave her suggestions for ten farce comedies and just as many mystery stories, that will back "Seven Days" and "The Man in Lower Ten" off the map.

Coming back from the ghost convention in their automobile they had a terrible experience, being caught in a cloudburst after night. On strange roads, with lamps that wouldn't light. For an hour they worked in darkness, wind and howling storm to get the chains on the wheels. At last they beat it back to Spookville, a wood, wait-meeting-again-Willie ride, hub deep in mud and water, skidding every inch of the way, and only recognizing the road by flashes of the lightning.

Mrs. Rinehart's readers do not need ghosts, cloudbursts and spirit rappings for excitement. All they need to do is to sit in the chair or lie in the hammock and read her latest romance, "The Window at the White Cat." It sends up and down your spine deliciously cooling thrills and chills. Agreeable tremors of nervous interest shake you. If some one rings a bell unexpectedly, you jump five feet in the air while the spell of the story is on you. And yet all the time you're laughing your head off, it's so funny and smart. Mrs. Rinehart seems to have a monopoly on this combination of mystery and humor. She constructs a plot as intricate as any of Anna Katherine Green's. She solves it with an ingenuity worthy of Conan Doyle. And she adds to these virtues the priceless gift of ringing laughter.

Of all her stories "The Window at the White Cat" seems to us the best. Never have so much fun and excitement been concentrated between the covers of a book.

TAWNEY FOUGHT ROOSEVELT PLANS

Cannon's Echo Did All He Could to Block Important Measures of the Ex-President

PINCHOT URGES HIS DEFEAT

Deposed Forester Says to Return Tawney would Be Serious Stumbling Block to Progress

ROCHESTER, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special.)—Gifford Pinchot, the noted deposed forester and one of the principals in the Ballinger-Pinchot controversy, was the principal speaker at one of the biggest political meetings ever held in this city last night, at which time he lauded the candidacy of Sidney Anderson for congress from the First District of Minnesota, and warmly roasted Congressman James A. Tawney for his allegiance to Joseph Cannon and "the system."

Before Mr. Pinchot spoke, Sidney Anderson, the candidate of the progressives, dwelt upon his candidacy, speaking about forty-five minutes.

Mr. Pinchot opened his speech by calling the attention of the audience of the great conservation movement started by Theodore Roosevelt. He dwelt upon the needs of such work and discussed the various branches of conservation, the forestry, waterways, mineral resources and production from the soil.

Blocked by Tawney

According to the speaker after the national conservation commission appointed by ex-President Roosevelt, had got their program in good working order, they were checked by an act of congress, championed mainly by Tawney. The work of conservation belongs to the new element of the republican party, known as the progressives. He said it is a fight between the men who own what they have earned what they do not own. The system is on one side and the people on the other.

"Tawney is the tool of Joseph Cannon," said Pinchot. "We in Washington know what Cannon says Tawney does. I have heard it said that in case Cannon was retired from the speakership, Tawney would be his logical successor. I do not believe if 'Uncle Joe' is retired, that the people will want a chip of the old block in his seat, and I have no faith in this cry of Tawney for speaker. If the people of the First district do not believe in Roosevelt and the principles for which he fought, then by all means send Tawney back to Washington; if they do believe in Roosevelt then keep him at home. Tawney was one of the bitterest enemies Roosevelt had in congress."

Tawney Fought Roosevelt

He reviewed the commissions appointed by the ex-president, and then cited Tawney's action as chairman of the committee on appropriations, in refusing appropriations for the continuance or the furtherance of the work. He also called attention to the Tawney amendment to the civil sundry bill in which it was made unlawful to allow any moneys for the work of any kind of a commission not authorized by congress, and quoted from Roosevelt's last message to congress bearing on this particular amendment.

In closing he mentioned the candidacy of Sidney Anderson and expressed the wish that the people would see fit to send him to congress believing that it would be a serious loss to the nation to return Tawney.

The meeting was marked with much enthusiasm and Pinchot's praise of Roosevelt evoked warm applause.

C. O. HUNT GETS GOOD POSITION

C. O. Hunt, 1407 Charles street, assistant engineer on the Burlington, who has had charge of the double track work between Onalaska and Lytle has been transferred from the construction department to the maintenance of way department and left today on No. 52 for Prairie du Chien to start work out of there. As this will remain his headquarters, the family will still reside here.

CHILD MORTALITY IN SUMMER

Every summer the newspapers are full of horrifying stories of the death of infants and children and extremely old people. In nursing infants and children still being fed largely on milk this is usually due to the quality of the milk itself, and in aged people to a general weakening of the system because of extreme heat. Still, a great many of the deaths are due to digestive trouble, and these can usually be avoided by the timely use of a reliable laxative-remedy. There is no remedy for this purpose that lends itself better to the uses of children and aged people than Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which for a generation has been the reliance of thousands of mothers and which is gaining in favor every year. This remedy, unlike a purgative, salt, laxative water or "infant medicine," contains nothing that is dangerous to the health of the weakest or youngest person, and its repeated use does not form a habit, as is the case with narcotic remedies for children. Go to your druggist this very day and buy a 50 cent or $1.00 bottle, and like thousands of other parents, keep it on hand for an emergency. You can obtain a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE by addressing

WISCONSIN TRIP OF BOARD ASSURED

Junket Over the Green Bay Road and Stop at Winona will Start on September 20

The junket of the board of trade and the La Crosse Manufacturers & Jobbers' club is now practically assured. Secretary Utermoehl has completed the figures, showing the expense of the trip. He says he has assurances from about a dozen business men who desire to go and there is no doubt that at least 75 will go. The cost of the trip, covering all the expenses, will be about $18 for each person. This includes sleepers, meals and railroad fare.

Mr. Utermoehl this afternoon held a conference with Secretary R. Calvert of the Jobbers' club and a meeting of the joint committees of the two organizations will be held within a few days.

Although the trip has not been definitely decided upon, it is almost assured that it will be over the Milwaukee road as far as Camp Douglas, thence over the Omaha to Black River Falls, thence over the Green Bay road to Winona and return to La Crosse. The trip will last three days. A brass band will accompany the excursion and stops will be made at all stations along the route.

SOCIETY

ENTERTAIN AT DINNER
There was a pleasant family dinner Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Grams on Seventeenth street. It was given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. BLITZ and BLATZ

Blatz—Say, if you watch the world, it's a contrary one, don't it? If a man is hard up for credit, he can't get it; if he is prosperous everybody rushes to favor him. If he goes into politics, it's for graft; if he stays out, he's no good to his country. If he doesn't give for charity something, he is a stingy cuss; if he does, it's for show. If he saves money, he's a grouch; if he spends it, he is a loafer, and—

Blitz—Ach, that was always so. Forget it, and tell me how the wife is.
Blatz—Oh, she's all right again. Another big feather in the cap for that "Gray's Yerba Santa" Cough Cure, what Druggist Beyschlag sells. After the third dose she improved, and before the bottle was gone, she was cured of her cough and cold. If everything in this world was as reliable as that remedy, there would be little trouble to reside in it.
Blitz—Yes, that's so. But ain't you a little philosophically inclined today?

PERSONALS

Election returns will be announced from the stage at the Majestic at both evening performances.

Walter Lang, this city, left yesterday for Montana.

Read every little word of Bijou ad. Ray Evans and Charles Vicker-man, Caledonia, were business callers here Saturday.

COMMERCE ASS'N

WANTS MR. TAFT

CHICAGO, Sept. 6.—President Taft was cheered by 2,000 people when he arrived at the Northwestern station today enroute from St. Paul to his summer home in Beverly.

From the moment he arrived over the Northwestern railroad at 8:30 until he left from the Lake Shore station at 10:45, the chief aim of his escort was to avoid crowds and to secure quiet.

A detail of detectives met the presidential party and the president was whisked away in an auto to the Congress hotel where he was installed in the presidential suite and breakfast was served. Without leaving the suite he received the delegation from the Chicago Association of Commerce and Labor and a few other calls, but many calls were deftly dismissed by Secretary Norton.

The visit of the delegation from the Association of Commerce and Labor was to discuss questions of local importance.

The delegation from the Association of Commerce, headed by President Homer Stillwell, assured President Taft that its organization heartily approves of the Taft policies and announced that organization would be glad to entertain him at any date he might set to come to Chicago. They discussed a probable date for the president to visit Chicago but no definite time was set.

Careful plans were made by Chief of Police Steward to keep the way to the station clear of crowds so there would be no delay in reaching the presidential train at the La Salle station.

Secretary Norton remains behind

PROGRESSIVES CONTROL CONVENTION

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Sept. 6.—

Simultaneously with the opening of the republican state convention here today, the democratic state convention met at Stockton. Both conventions were devoted entirely to the adoption of platforms on which the candidates nominated at the recent state wide primaries will stand.

The progressives were in undisputed control of the republican convention and when the meeting opened 100 of the 400 "regulars" chosen delegates to the convention had not appeared. It was almost certain that the "Roosevelt-Pinchot" policies would be endorsed and that President Taft would be accorded "courteous treatment."

All was harmony in the democratic convention.

FIRST WHITE SLAVE TAFFICER INDICTED

CHICAGO, Sept. 6.—Two indictments were returned today by the federal grand jury in white slave cases, the first to be returned under the Mann act. They are against Mrs. Nettie Jenkins of Houghton, Mich., who until her arrest a short time ago, with a party of eight girls she was taking to a place in Michigan, posed as a respectable member of society and Ethel Culvert, who is charged with aiding Mrs. Jenkins in the unlawful traffic.

LIGHT MORNING VOTE HERE TODAY

Cloudy Weather in Early Hours Keeps Workers from Stopping at the Polls

A trip to the polling places throughout the city this morning developed the fact that the vote at the primaries is light, especially so on the North side.

Up to noon on the North side the vote was very low, there being approximately 300 ballots cast up to 12 o'clock, and the total number of voters in the six North side wards is 1,649.

The balloting on the South side is somewhat heavier.

In the Fifteenth ward at 11 o'clock there had been but eight, and at noon this had been about tripled.

In the Fifth ward 58 votes had been cast at 11 o'clock, and 65 at noon.

The Nineteenth ward had 38 votes at noon, the Ninth had 63, and the Tenth 46. In the Twenty-second 22 votes had been turned in.

Afternoon Vote Light

About 2 o'clock when a round was made of the voting booths there was still indication the vote was light. Although weather conditions were good, in the 21st ward, where there are 147 voters, only 22 had voted; in the 18th with 485 only 73; in the 17th with 385, only 108; in the 3rd, with a large vote only 74; in the seventh with 359 only 78 and in the eighth with 556 but 95 had cast their ballots up to 2 o'clock.

CHEERS INTERRUPT MILITANT SPEECH

states not affected," he declared, turning to James J. Hill, and the western governors, who have led the state rights movement. Again the crowd yelled.

The colonel pointed out that no running water is wholly within a single state. He claimed that rivers running from one state to another are necessarily under "federal control."

Discards Set Speech
Following the squabble that has developed over the water power site proposition the colonel today shifted entirely the stand which he will take in the convention. Originally he was to assume a Pacific attitude, but he prepared today to make the big fight in behalf of his policy, the federal control of water power sites.

It is noted by conservationists here today that President Taft in his speech here yesterday outlined briefly the fight between the partisans of state control and the champions of the Roosevelt scheme and concluded by saying he would present both statements, federal and state control to congressmen.

There is probably no question in connection with conservation upon which Col. Roosevelt takes a firmer stand than the water power site situation. He objects strongly to placing the power sites under the control of what he calls "easily de-gauched legislatures."

"Interests" Entrenched
The state rights people have a strong showing in the conservation congress here and a real test is looked for.

The colonel arrived in Minneapolis this morning and was met by a reception committee headed by Gov. Elbert. He was taken to the Rarison hotel in Minneapolis for breakfast, where all of the conservationists and politicians who are making St. Paul and Minneapolis their headquarters during the conservation congress are quartered.

The colonel, however, was busy revolving in his mind the things he wanted to put into his conservation speech. The colonel was hurried across to St. Paul by automobile after breakfast and taken to the state capitol where he reviewed the Spanish War Veterans and picked up the escort of Roosevelt club members in rough rider uniforms who followed him the rest of the way. He will attend the conservation congress at about noon.

Cheered Mightily
Roosevelt was accorded a hearty reception by the people of Minneapolis and St. Paul and was cheered mightily as he passed through the streets.

Many of those attending the conservation congress are pointing significantly at the attack made here yesterday by Gov. Stubbs, of Kansas, on Secretary Ballinger. Last week Col. Roosevelt spent part of an evening at the home of Gov. Stubbs at Lawrence, Kas., and the two talked politics and conservation for a long time. Just what relation that talk may have had with the views Stubbs expressed yesterday when he declared Ballinger should be driven from the public service is the subject of much conjecture here today.

Gets Great Reception.
As enthusiastic a reception as the colonel has been accorded throughout the trip was given him here. Five thousand people were waiting when he left the Radisson hotel in Minneapolis for St. Paul. They crowded about his auto and the police had trouble clearing a path for the machine. All along the nine mile ride to St. Paul the crowds cheered. The schools along the line of march turned out hundreds of children armed with flags.

The colonel insisted that he be allowed to stop and talk to them, and the local committee let him stop for a few minutes. At the state capital 8,000 people gathered, and while an artillery salute greeted Roosevelt they cheered unceasingly. Thousands also lined the streets to the St. Paul hotel, where the colonel was closeted with James R. Garfield for a time. From there he went to the auditorium for the big address of the day.

Convention Hall Wild.

Twelve thousand people, who packed the big building, cheered wildly when he entered the hall, and fought his way through the seething mass of people that crowded the floor.

Resolutions Committee.

The conservation congress today took up the selection of the resolutions committee. It was decided that each state delegation should choose a member of the resolutions committee.

Edward Hines of Chicago was named chairman of the credentials committee. The congress adopted a constitution providing that the object of the congress shall be to provide a forum for discussion of the resources of the United States in the foundation for a prosperity of the people, to furnish definite information concerning the resources and their utilization, and to afford an agency through which the people of the country may frame policies and principles affecting the conservation of the resources to be put into effect by their representatives in state and federal governments.

Cheers for Stubbs.

The crowd, while awaiting Roosevelt, paid a noisy tribute to insurgency and shared its complexion by crying: "Stubbs! Stubbs!"

The crying lasted three minutes. Gov. Stubbs of Kansas stepped to the platform and received a noisy ovation. His reference to Roosevelt brought forth more cheers.

"The idea in Kansas of letting men spend their money for shoes, clothes and food, has proved a tremendous success in Kansas," he said, "as compared with letting them turn all their money into saloons."

J. J. Hill, western railroad builder, received an ovation as the crowd waited.

At 11:05 Roosevelt entered the hall. Rival luncheons, one of them arranged by Hugh Halbert, progressive candidate for congress against F. C. Stevens, were both attended by Roosevelt. He made no luncheon speeches.

Wants Red Cross Fund

Mable Boardman of Washington, D. C., speaking on "The Red Cross" said Japan had a red cross fund of $7,500,000 and asked why the United States could not raise a similar fund of $2,000,000.

Former Governor Geo. W. Pardee of California, was appointed chairman of the committee on resolutions.

Barbership opened at Steppes' old stand, 16th and Jackson. Good service guaranteed.

ROOT MAY COME TO AID BALLINGER

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—That U. S. senators are treated by custom inspectors just as other folks are, was emphasized today when Senator Elihu Root was forced to stand around the pier for three-quarters of an hour waiting for his baggage to be O. K'd. The senator was returning on the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse.

"I have been engrossed with the work before the Hague court," he said, "and have not considered anything else. I have not kept in touch with affairs at home and have nothing to say on national or state politics."

Although the senator said nothing of any intention to go to St. Paul to attend the meeting of the Ballinger investigation committee it is believed he will go there if his vote is needed in framing the decision.

Year, republicans of both the progressive and stand pat stripes are hustling today to get out every available vote in the primary election, the first ever held here, in which the two factions are warring to choose a candidate for governor.

With reasonably fair weather at least 40,000 republicans are expected to cast their ballots. Both sides claim the victory but with no previous primaries for comparison, it is almost impossible for either to make estimates. From the public view point, Senator Robert Bass the progressive candidate for governor, appears to be the strong one in the country districts, while Bertram Ellis, the regular candidate, seems the favorite in the cities.

As there is no contest in the democratic ranks, the democratic vote is expected to be small, the leaders, estimating it about 12,000 out of the normal vote of 35,000.

The normal republican vote is about 53,000.

is better than none at all, but the kind that builds fortunes every year for men in every line of business is that continuous advertising that never ceases in any season of the year. It is the kind that works whether the weather is hot or cold, wet or dry, whether it be the busy or the dull season.

It's constantly talking and impressing the advertiser's goods and store so strongly on the minds of the people that they're unconsciously drawn to that store. A merchant prince of this country says, "The best time to advertise is all the time."

his own ready. There is always the possibility that he may ally himself with the democratic four and tie the committee vote. Any weakening, then of the pro-Ballinger quintet would mean the "tar" instead of the "whitewash" for Ballinger.

Senator Knute Nelson of Minnesota, chairman of the committee, Senator Sutherland of Utah and Representative McCall of Massachusetts, are the three presumed Ballinger adherents now here. Should McCall go over to the anti-Ballinger faction the result would be disastrous to both Ballinger and his party. It is understood that McCall is not so strong for Ballinger as he used to be.

It was Senator Murray Crane, also of Massachusetts, who came here not so long ago, and unless all indications are false, invited Ballinger to go back to Washington and run for the United States senate from that state.

Dynamite Is Better
Diplomacy—administration diplomacy—failed to cure Ballinger of his fondness for being secretary of the interior. Dynamite, administered through this committee, might work better.

Should reports that Beverly, Mass., has decided upon the retirement of Ballinger be true, and they look that way, and should McCall be the chosen instrument for this action, the hand of the "regular" faction is forced.

It might prove more expedient for the five regular members to join with Madison in censuring Ballinger than to let the democratic members do it. The committee did no formal work today. Its members without exception followed Col. Theodore Roosevelt to St. Paul and spent the day at the National Conservation Congress.

THROUGH TRAFFIC NOW RESUMED

CHICAGO, Sept. 6.—Officials of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad announced today that through continuous service had been resumed on the Pacific coast extension from St. Paul to Tacoma and Seattle.

Owing to the disastrous forest fires in the Bitter Root mountain district, the lines have been practically out of commission for the past ten days.

WOMAN ARRESTED; CAMPS IN MARSHES

Emma Dalton, a woman who claims her home is at Spring Valley, Minn., was arrested by the police yesterday and is now locked up at the central police station. She was camping in the marshes with a man, but the latter has made his escape. Last February the Dalton woman was picked up by the police and was sent out of town. The police have not decided what charge will be made against her.

charge of murder against Miss Le-neve had been dropped and that the charge of being an accessory was substituted.

Crippen paid close attention to Humphrey's statement but did not seem to be perturbed by it. In case the identity of the body is determined, it is understood Crippen will try to prove that his wife frequently used the drugs used by him in his dental work.

The jewelry, including three diamond rings, that Inspector Dew found on Crippen, which were the property of his wife, were introduced in evidence as well as furs and clothing belonging to the dead woman.

Judge Sir Albert de Reutzen presided. Humphreys went into detail in describing the marriage and early married life of the Crippens. He said that whatever affection they had for each other was on the surface.

Threatened to Leave Him

The statement made by Crippen that his wife had an admirer when he married her in Jersey City and that she had made frequent threats to leave him for a man who would give her a better position in life, was read by the prosecutor. The acquaintance of Mrs. Crippen with Bruce Miller was recalled and Humphreys declared that an effort would be made to bring Miller from Chicago to testify.

NORMAL SCHOOL IS OPENED TODAY

The La Crosse Normal school opened today for the fall term, with over 200 pupils enrolled and more will be added during the week. Among the list is a large number of men. All day yesterday a committee composed of women members of the faculty and Mrs. F. A. Cotton, a student committee member from the Y. W. C. A. met incoming trains and held an informal reception for the students at the hall of the school.

Two members have been added to the faculty, Miss M. Roller, general assistant, and Miss Matthews to take charge of the third and fourth grades.

Jay McCormick, a graduate last year, leaves Thursday for Alma Center to take the position of principal of a four year high school.

Miss Anna Kinnear of the class of 1910 goes to Lodi to take a position in primary work.

Loran Van Gordon of the class of 1910 goes to Warren, Wis., to be principal of a graded school.

Miss Josephine Mahoney of the class of 1910, returns to the normal to do advanced work.

PARIS, Sept. 6.—There is no truth in the report that Mr. Chanler's return to America indicates a rupture between us.

This was Mrs. Robert Chanler's (Mme. Lina Cavaleiri) statement to the United Press today, given in her beautiful Avenue Messin home, concerning the report that she and "Sheriff Bob" had come to the parting of the ways.

The noted opera singer was indignant. "My husband's business calls him to America," she said. "Had I been sufficiently recovered from my recent operation for appendicitis, I would have accompanied him. I expect to join him in America. We are as happy in our married life as when we began it."

SCHOOL FURNACES IN BAD CONDITION

Upper Grades in Washburn School will Therefore Be Transferred to Longfellow

At the meeting of the board of education last evening the committee on grounds and buildings reported that three of the six furnaces in the Washburn school, corner of Eighth and Main streets, were in bad condition and therefore it was voted to transfer the sixth, seventh and eighth grades to the Longfellow school, corner of sixth and Vine streets, during the winter months. The furnaces, however, are not dangerous, but was thought they would not last through the winter. The pupils may be transferred back to the Washburn school in the spring.

John Elsig, formerly employed at the Listman mill, was elected to the position of janitor at the high school. Owing to the equipment of the old lunch room at the high school in accordance with the sewing course, as a sewing room, a new lunch room will be established in the present supply room.

The following new text books were adopted: The Robbins & Row language series, Bailey-Manley speller book 2, Remson's chemistry and three small texts for the German department.

Changes in Teachers

The resignation of Ira S. Fuller, head of the manual training department, was accepted. Mr. Fuller has accepted a position as superintendent of the button works. Max E. Newcomb will succeed Mr. Butler and Ervin A. Peart of Menomonie, Wis., succeeds Mr. Newcomb.

Miss Anna Collins and Homer H. Benton were each granted a leave of absence for a year, owing to sickness in their families.

Miss Viola Deane of Lincoln, Ill., was elected to fill the place of Miss Collins and Roswell C. Pluckett will succeed Mr. Benton.

Mary E. Damon was elected to fill a vacancy in the fifth grade in the Washington school.

Shirley Almy succeeds Miss Gale Hickox, the latter having resigned. A teacher who was engaged to teach in the public schools broke her contract on September 1 and went out west where she had a better offer. This is an unusual case, the board having had little trouble in the past in this respect. Mrs. A. K. Sagen, who taught in the public schools, before her marriage, was elected to fill the vacancy.

Miss Vera Allen was granted an increase in salary, having been made senior teacher in the Longfellow school.

A petition from the patrons of the school at Twentieth and King streets, was presented, asking that the school be reopened, but the board decided not to reopen the school for the present.

Prof. Robert H. Butler, head of the commercial department in the high school, was appointed supervisor of penmanship and will devote the forenoon from 9 to 11 o'clock to visiting the grade schools. The superintendent's annual report was received and placed on file.

MANY CRIMINAL CASES COMING UP

FOREIGN MARKETS

New York Stocks. NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—Although some advances were scored at the opening of the stock market today in a few minor shares, developments over the holiday were such as to lead the traders to sell the more important speculative issues. The result was losses running from 1/4 to 1/2 point in some stocks.

11 a. m.—Selling of stocks, although on only a moderate scale, continued through the first hour and resulted in declines of a point or more in practically all the leading issues.

Government bonds unchanged; others dull.

Noon.—For the greater part of the second hour the market was extremely dull, but the drift of prices continued downward.

2 p. m.—During the afternoon the market continued extremely dull but with quotations of the leading speculative issues showing advances ranging from 1/4 to 1/2 from the low levels.

The market closed steady.

Grain Letter

CHICAGO, Sept. 6.—Wheat bears who were going to have an easy break of one cent in the market this morning, because of big world's shipments and large receipts northwest, were decidedly disappointed before the end of the morning hour, as a little drop of 1/4 to 3/8 cent on early trades was immediately recovered and prices held firm to a shade higher than the close last week.

Corn was heavy at the start today and a break in prices to 68c for September. The prices were about 5-8c under the closing price last week, and there were but fractional fluctuations.

Oats opened heavy. There was free selling by cash houses against purchases of cash oats made in the country. September oats opened at 33 1/2c to 33 3/4c and sold 33 1/2c to 33 3/4c, with December and May following closely.

Provisions had a strong undertone. There was a good local demand in evidence, prompted by the stronger hog situation and the light run of raw material.

Close.—Entire market was weak from the start. Rains in the corn belt weakened corn. September wheat, 1 1/2, December 1 1/4 and May 1 1/4 low.

er. September corn 1, December 7/8, May 1 1/4 lower. September oats 1/2, December 5/8, May 3/4. Provisions lower.

SOLDIERS IN LONG CROSS COUNTRY TRIP

TOMAH, Wis., Sept. 6.—Seven companies of regular United States infantry camped here over Thursday night, using Tomah as a stopping place in their march from Camp Robinson, near Sparta, to Fort Sheridan, Chicago. Those who were fortunate enough to be on Superior Ave., at about 1:30 p. m. Wednesday, saw a beautiful martial parade. The column consisting of nearly two battalions of the 27th infantry, machine guns, ammunition, and hospital wagon, and the 27th regiment band, marched up the main street, forming a line from the depot to the park, a distance of nearly a mile. The soldiers encamped just east of Tomah. The soldiers are "hiking" from Camp Robinson where they have been since August 28, to their regular quarters at Fort Sheridan, Chicago, covering the entire distance of 234 miles in twenty days. The soldiers say that in some ways the month's encampment in the Wisconsin woods is but a picnic to them, after steady fort duties, yet there are, of course, many hardships connected with it.

SUNDAY THEATERS IN CHURCHES' PLACE

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—Sunday theaters in New York will be the next move in the process of the enlightenment of the metropolis, if Manager Charles Frohman has his way. Contending that the church no longer successfully copes with ethical problems, Frohman would have the state law so changed as to permit the presentation on Sunday of plays that "deal with social and moral problems," provided the plays are chosen by a committee of broad minded men appointed by the governor.

Frohman, who has heretofore opposed Sunday theaters, says his mind has been changed by talks he has had with those interested in the general welfare of the city.

FIRE SWEEPS A BALTIMORE SUBURB

BALTIMORE, Md., Sept. 6.—A fire broke out this afternoon at Glyndon, Md., and swept that beautiful suburb.

At 1 p. m. the home for aged women and a dozen dwellings had been destroyed. The feeble inmates of the home, about 50 in number, were rescued. Assistance was sent by the Baltimore fire department.

CLOSED SHOP WILL LIKELY BE ORDERED

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Sept. 6.—Labor conditions that will prevail in the Bucks Stove and Range company in the future will be determined here tomorrow at a meeting of representatives of the stove foundry's national defense association and the American Federation of Labor. The immediate enforcement of the Cincinnati agreement to make the Bucks company a closed shop, is looked for as a result of federal judge Smith McPherson's refusal of a restraining order sought by C. W. Post of Battle Creek, Mich. It was declared here today that Post "is the owner of 7 1/3 per cent of the capital stock, that he has never been a director or had any voice in the management and further that he has been forbidden to use the name of the Bucks Stove and Range company, to attract attention to himself and his business." Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor, Joseph F. Valentine, president of the international iron moulders' union, will arrive tonight for Wednesday's conference.

REV. FINCH CLARK CALLED TO CITY

The congregation of the North Presbyterian church will hold a meeting tomorrow evening for the purpose of calling Rev. Finch Clark of Belfry, Mont. Rev. Mr. Clark preached two sermons here several weeks ago and made a favorable impression upon the members of the congregation. A few days afterward a meeting was held and it was decided to make a canvass and ascertain whether or not a sufficient amount could be pledged to warrant the calling of Rev. Mr. Clark. The canvass has been successful and at tomorrow's meeting the call will be issued.

BRINGS 200 SNAKES FOR NEW YORK ZOO

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—Two hundred snakes, rattlesnakes, milk snakes, and water snakes, were added to the reptile population of the Bronx zoo by Raymond L. Dittmars, curator of reptiles, just back from his vacation.

Dittmars holds his job because he likes it and when his vacation time came around, he, with Mrs. Dittmars and their two daughters, snake lovers all, headed direct for Sullivan county, New York's natural reptile farm, to spend their time in gathering specimens for the zoo.

GUNS THAT SUFFOCATE THE ENEMY

The new German bomb firer.

BERLIN—Krupps, the famous German gunmakers, have just invented a remarkable weapon known as the bomb-gun. This fires a large, very brittle bomb containing 160 pounds of explosives. Each bomb, as it bursts, fills the air with poisonous gases, which, it is said, no human being can withstand. The effective range is not more than 400 yards.

"AL" AND "BILL" LACK REAL SPEED

Neither Kaufman nor Lang Are Fit to Meet Jack Johnson, Say the Experts Today

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—Sports experts who returned from Philadelphia today unite in declaring that Jack Johnson need not worry about his title. Neither "Al" Kaufman, who got the decision of the majority of the spectators, nor "Bill" Lang, the so-called Australian navel, have any license to fight Johnson. On their showing of last night neither man would last much more than a round, if the opinion of the local experts can be relied on.

Instead of having lost the slowness and indecision that in the past characterized his actions, Kaufman, the fight sharks say, seems to have added to it. He has to set himself before delivering a blow and, although in four of the six rounds last night, he outclassed Lang, everytime he seemed to have a chance to put over a knockout punch he thought about it until Lang covered up or got out of danger.

There was much clinching and holding and the referee had his hands full trying to make the pair break. The crowd howled at times for a knockout and all present admitted when the final bell rang, they had their money's worth.

PHILADELPHIA HAS PENNANT CINCHED

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—By winning one of the Labor Day games with the Highlanders, the Philadelphia Athletics, who have the American League pennant practically cinched, brought their season's victories over the Highlanders to twelve, thus insuring the big end of the series.

SPLENDID LABOR DAY EXERCISES

Interesting Contest Pulled Off between Showers at the Fair Grounds Yesterday

The program of exercises for Labor day held at the fair grounds yesterday afternoon was a success and with the exception of a little rain there was nothing to mar the pleasures of the day.

Kreutz's band furnished the music and kept the crowd from becoming impatient while the various contestants were preparing for their events.

The first contest on the program was the tug of war between the Brewers and the Electricians. The two sides lined up with seven men at each end of the rope and at the start it looked as though the electricians were going to have everything their own way but the Brewers finally took a brace and succeeded in pulling their opponents over the line.

The next event was a race for boys under fifteen years of age and was won by M. Burzynski. M. Marshall crossed the wire second and F. Lockman third.

This was followed by a one mile race, Marcus and Bobbie being the only horses entered. Marcus won the first heat in 2:39 and the second in 2:44.

A one half mile trot was next and Schreger won in 1:31 and 1:46. The baseball game between the Athletics and the La Crosse Clothing company was fast, each team making one score in the seventh. The game was called at the end of the ninth inning, with the score 1 to 1, on account of rain. The batteries were Nutting and Johnson for the Athletics and Walters and Nelson for the Clothing company.

KETCHEL TO FARM TO "COME BACK"

CHICAGO, Sept. 6.—Stanley Ketchel, middleweight pugilist, has returned to his farm near Grand Rapids, Mich., after several days spent in Chicago purchasing farming tools and telling old friends that he was far from being down and out as the eastern sporting writers had affirmed. Stanley admitted that his dalliance with the splendors of the "great white way" had impaired his powers somewhat but he thinks that he is almost if not equally as good as when he won his title and says a short rest and outdoor life will make a new man of him.

When he takes another flyer in the pugilistic game it will be in England and his opponent will be Tom Thomas, British middleweight, said to be one of the best in his class. Before that, however, he will elevate the stage in the northwest during a fall tour.

KAUFMAN WINNER IN FAST SIX ROUNDS

PITCHERS BATTLE ENDS IN TIE GAME

One to One in Ninth Inning Is Score in Second Game of City Championship Series

CALLED ON ACCOUNT OF RAIN

With Score Even in Ninth, Postponement of Fast Game Becomes Necessary

In what is said to have been the fastest game of ball seen on the League grounds this year, the La Crosse Athletics and the La Crosse Clothing Co. teams battled for nine innings. At this juncture rain caused the calling of what seemed destined to be a prolonged struggle for supremacy.

Nutting pitched for the Athletics while Walters hurled them over for the Clothing Co. Neither side could connect with the ball when they were fortunate enough to have men on bases.

The Athletics scored first in the seventh and in the ninth the Clothing Co. tied it up.

The third game of the series will be played next Sunday and in case the Clothing Co. wins the championship will go to them. The score: Athletics.....000000100-1 Clothing Co.....000000001-1

PARK STORE BEATS THE RUBBER MILLS

The Park Store baseball team defeated the Rubber Mills' team Sunday by the score of 4 to 2. The feature of the game was the pitching of Krause for the winners. He held his opponents safe at all stages of the game. He also struck out 12 men and allowed only four hits.

McFadden, who started pitching for the Rubber Mills, was knocked out of the box in the sixth inning, and Larsen went in and pitched the rest of the game, allowing only one hit and striking out six men. The Park Store team had the losers shut out until the eighth inning, when they crossed the pan twice. After that not a man saw first base. Score by innings:

MUST FISH OR OUT BAIT, SAYS REFEREE

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—As Charlie White boarded a train today for Boston, enroute to referee the Langford-Jeanette fight before the Armory Athletic Club, he told his friends that they "could bet the world" on the scrap if they desire. He said there would be no stalling but a real fight throughout. At the first indication that either man is pulling or that there is an understanding, White said he would stop the bout and declare it "no contest" thus saving the club the purse money.

M'INTOSH SAILS WITH FIGHTING CREW
